INTRODUCTION TO THE READINGS THIS WEEKEND

First Reading

There are two realities present here: God's judgment and his mercy. Both are real. If we stress one without the other, we fall into distortions of various kinds.

Second Reading

Life in Christ is death to sin. It is by daily dying to sin that we live the life Christ offers to us.

Gospel

In Luke's Gospel, it is the example of Jesus' own prayer that prompts his disciples to ask: 'Lord, teach us to pray.' They prayed for the gift of prayer - we can do the same!

WORLD DAY FOR GRANDPARENTS AND THE ELDERLY

Will be celebrated this weekend on Sunday July 24th. People are invited to participate in the day in two possible ways. Firstly, by attending Mass and joining in prayer for grandparents and the elderly. Secondly, by visiting an elderly person living alone or in nursing home care. During the summer time, many activities are interrupted due to the holiday season. Unfortunately, while others go on holiday, the housebound can easily feel abandoned or neglected. This day should heighten our need to care for grandparents and the elderly.
